Kernel Recipes

12th edition

12

22 to 24 september 2025

OSS flow

Kernel Recipes

12th edition
22 to 24 september 2025

What is Kernel Recipes ?

Ossflow will organize the 12th edition of Kernel Recipes conference on 22 to 24th september 2025 in Paris.

We have started working on Kernel Recipes more than 13 years ago. The main goal was to create a yearly meeting in France and give the opportunity to meet the guys involved in kernel.org. But we wanted to organize it so that it can be less formal and more "human" than most of the existing meeting in Europe or in the US. That's why the max number of expected people is about 150. There is no main line for the talks but rather quite an open one: current burning topics, future of Linux kernel development, project organization, security, relations with other free software projects, relations with hardware manufacturers.

All talks are organized in a single room so that people do not have to choose what talks they should attend. Priority is given to pedagogy and exchanges between attendees and speakers. A lunch is offered for each day so that people can discuss some more and we use to have social events at the end of each days.

Feedbacks

I've always been a huge fan of Kernel Recipes, so I was really excited to receive the invitation to speak at this amazing conference. And I'm even more excited to talk about virtme-ng there!
Kernel Recipes is such an amazing conference, I'm feeling really honored to have had the opportunity to participate as a speaker... and I also have a sketch from Frank!

Andrea Righi

Last week, I had the privilege of giving a presentation at Kernel Recipes in Paris, France...I would like to thank Anne Nicolas, OSSFlow and all of the organizers for putting together such a wonderful and fun conference. Also big thanks to this year's Kernel Recipes Godfather, Arnaldo Carvalho de Melo for mentoring me throughout the process.

Derek Barbosa

Kernel Recipes is one of the best Linux conferences outside of the ones organized by the Linux Foundation:
- It is attended by well known contributors to the Linux kernel, who are definitely worth meeting and learning from.
- I always get back home with a pile of notes corresponding to topics to explore.
- Thanks to volunteers and sponsors (!), it's very affordable.
- The single track gives a sense of community, as all participants attend the same talks and then can debate about the corresponding talks. I've met very interesting people there, and I stay in touch with them. In particular, the shared lunch definitely helps to connect with participants.
- It's always in a great venue, in the heart of Paris. The social events are also in great locations, very typical to Paris.
- All talks are video recorded and freely available a few weeks after the event. This constitutes a very valuable source of information for the whole community.

Michael Opdenacker

Oh well. Great conference though, no regrets going there right after LPC :)

Vlastimil BABKA

#PhDs are no rainbows and unicorns, but it has its moments ;). Thanks for giving me this one.

Himadri CS

Alright, summary of the last three days: a pure injection of high-level tech, featuring leading experts in their fields, the kindness of a community that listens (and hugs). Let's got to KR2025.

Lé linux

Oh well. Great conference though, no regrets going there right after LPC :)
Vlastimil BABKA

Sponsor Pack

OSS flow

https://kernel-recipes.org
anicolas@ossflow.fr

Kernel Recipes

12th edition
22 to 24 september 2025

Previous speakers

Greg Kroah-Hartman, Thomas Petazzoni, Brendan Gregg, Benjamin Tissoires, Jens Axboe, James Bottomley, Kees Cook, Andrea Arcangeli, Thomas Gleixner, Johan Hovold, Sasha Levin, Werner Koch, Sjoerd Simons, Jean Delvare, Steven Rostedt, Borislav Petkov, Eric Leblond, Frédéric Weisbecker, Daniel Vetter, Willy Tarreau, Yann E. Morin, David Woodhouse, Ben Hutchings, Martin Peres, Julia Lawall, Tejun Heo, Dodji Seketeli, Maxime Ripard, Maximilian Attems, Jonathan Corbet, Mickael Salaün, Hans Verkuil, Laurent Pinchart, Konstantin Ryabitsev, Jiri Slaby, William Dauchy, Michael Kerrisk, Paolo Bonzini, Jesper Dangaard Brouer, Bartosz Golaszewski, Ezequiel Garcia, Alexander Graf, Vaishali Thakkar, Rafael Wysocki, Nicolas Planel, Jiri Kosina, Grégory Clément, Will Deacon, Matthias Kirschner., Bradley Kuhn, Christian Brauner, Enric Balletbo, David Miller, Joel Fernandes, Jose E Marchesi, Daniel Bristot de Oliveira, Vladislav K. Valtchev, Thorsten Leemhuis, Arnaldo Carvalho de Melo, Guillaume Tucker, David Vernet, Pavel Begunkov, Hans de Goede, Wolfram Sang, Omar Sandoval.

Sponsor Pack

Kernel Recipes

12th edition
22 to 24 september 2025

? Why sponsoring

Some figures about the 11th edition

- people registered on 3 days : 100 in less than 1 day

- chum rate : less than 1%

- more than 90% of the attendees registered for the 3 days

- 80% of attendees come as professionals to collect the last information about kernel

- 21 speakers coming from all over the world

- 22 talks

- more than 90 % of our speakers are part of the kernel core team

Kernel Recipes is unique in the way it's organized.
We want to keep it affordable and this is possible because we have sponsors.
Everybody then can attend it whoever he is : students, trainee, or professionnals.
Still our attendees are high level kernel hackers in universities, startups, banks, industries, security...

The conference takes place in a single room so the talks have the full audience and a very attentive one (based also on speakers impressions).

Sponsoring this event is also a way to contribute to the Linux kernel project allowing people to meet and learn from great developers but also allowing kernel developers to meet themselves there.

oss flow

Sponsor Pack

New !

Kernel Recipes Workshop

Help us to organize the first Kernel Recipes 2025 Workshop

Where?

In a cool and friendly venue for better sharing and discussions: in the countryside, on a boat,... we are still looking for it!
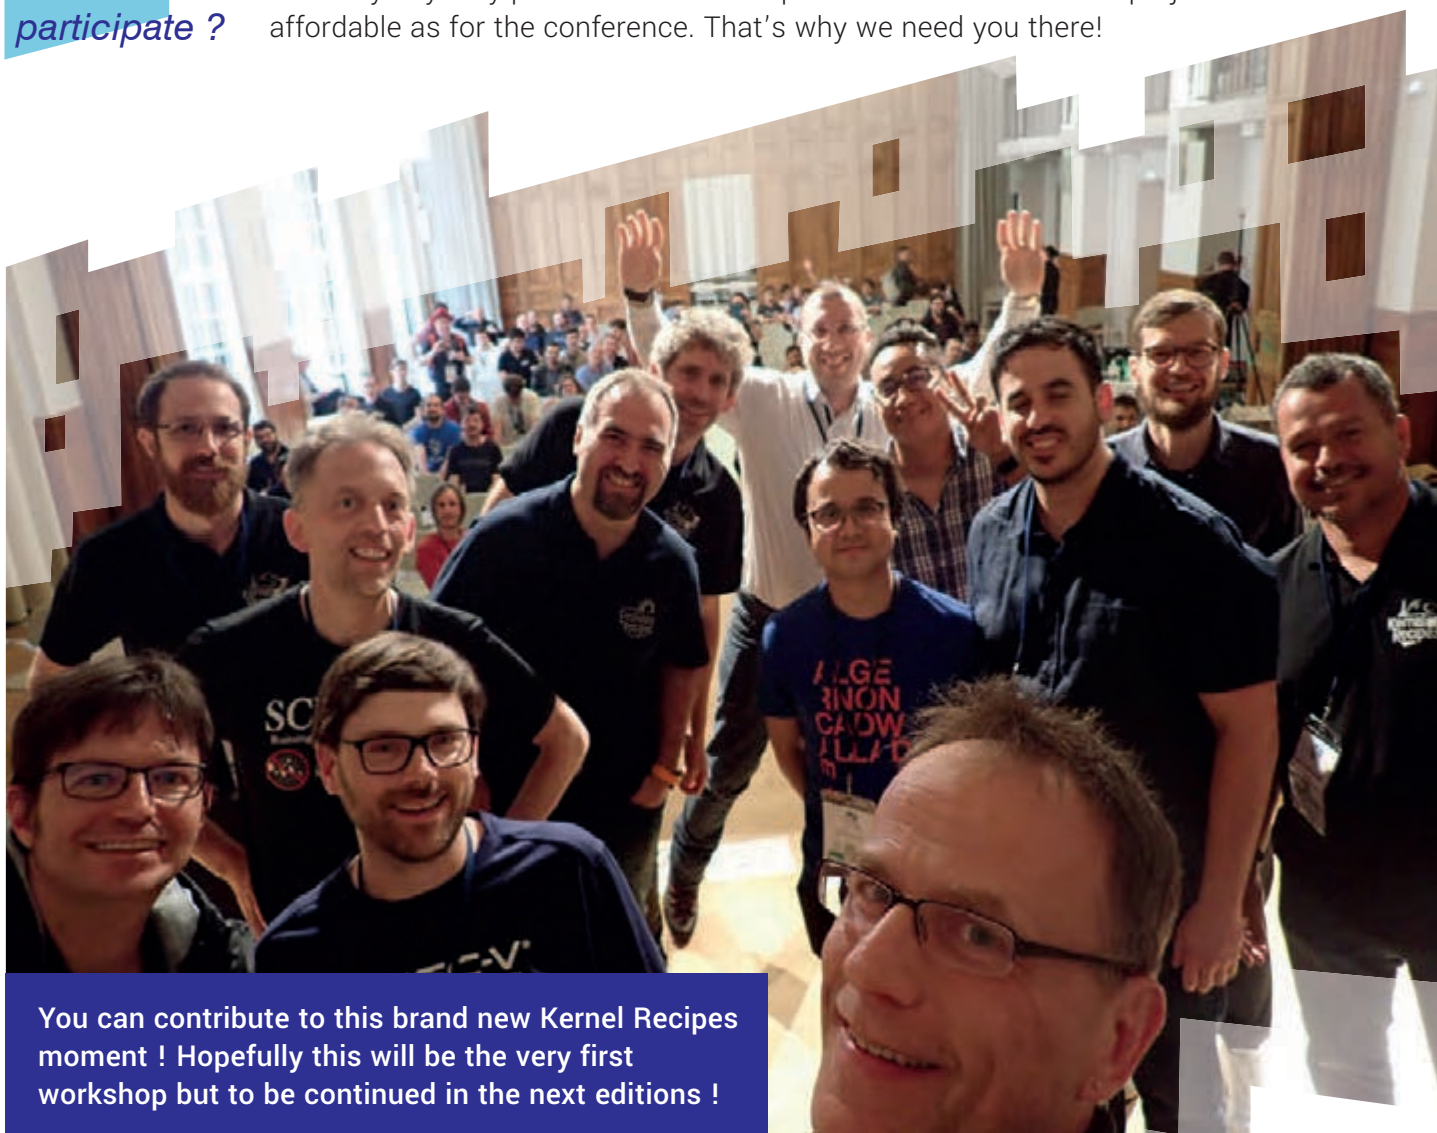

What format?

Small informal working groups, over half a day at most, led by kernel.org developers, to learn, test, develop...

About what ?

Debugging or testing, new features in practice, writing documentation, learning how to contribute... in short, everything that makes up the kernel project and community. And maybe raise new kernel contributers !

Who could participate ?

Basically anybody passionnate about Open Source and the kernel project. We want it affordable as for the conference. That's why we need you there!

You can contribute to this brand new Kernel Recipes moment ! Hopefully this will be the very first workshop but to be continued in the next editions !

Sponsor Pack

OSS flow

https://kernel-recipes.org
anicolas@ossflow.fr

Kernel Recipes 11th edition

23 to 25 september 2024

Sponsorship plan

Here is the sponsorship plan for the 12th edition of Kernel Recipes :

Cornerstone : 10 000€

- Common press release
- Your logo published on Videos
- Sponsorship of one day food
  - french breakfast
  - french quality buffet for lunch
- special announcement, your advertising for one day in the lunch room
- Kakemono in the conference rooms and the workshop rooms
- Your logo on the badges
- Part of official communications
- Your logo on the web site
- 4 VIP pass

Chef : 5 000€

- Sponsorship of one day food
  - french breakfast
  - french quality buffet for lunch
- special announcement, your advertising for one day in the lunch room
- Kakemono in the conference and the workshop rooms
- Your logo on the badges
- Part of official communications
- Your logo on the web site
- 3 VIP pass

Supporter : 3 500€

- Kakemono in the conference rooms
- Your logo on the badges
- Part of official communications
- Your logo on the web site
- 2 VIP pass

Kernel Recipes friend : 2 000€

- Part of official communications
- Your logo on the web site
- 1 VIP pass

OSS flow

Sponsor Pack

https://kernel-recipes.org
anicolas@ossflow.fr